NOTICE

FORMATION OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS CELL

Date: 20th July, 2017

Intellectual Property Rights (IPRs) is an umbrella term that includes the intangibles that arise and derive its fundamental value through innovation and creation. Faster pace of strategic use and effective administration of the property has ignited the emergence of a noteworthy subject of dialogue in last two decades. Globalization has brought IPR as a significant mechanism for the nation's socio-economic development leading it to be a key determinant of economic relations amongst nations. Research and Innovation in our nation surface both from industry as well as academic institutions. In today's age, the rights are globally enforceable thereby necessitating a conducive surrounding where we can impart knowledge to the younger generation. The mainstream research in Indian law schools is majorly confined to viewing IP laws from a single dimensional perspective of 'black letter' law and text book study.

In pursuit of disseminating a wider coverage, the Institute is establishing the Intellectual Property Rights Cell (IPRC) with effect from Academic Session 2018-19. It shall without undermining the importance of statute based and case-law approach shall shower focus on conducting programmes with an aim to move beyond the standard notions in the society. The Cell shall ensure space and provide a stage to share and discuss the advancement of the latest information with practical exposure for the local innovators and creators including faculty members and students.

The following is the formed Intellectual Property Rights Cell of the Institute:

Ex-Officio President – Prof. (Dr.) Anil Parkash Sharma, Director, IIMT
